Act I, scene ii: We are currently raising matching funds for Phase 2 of the Waterworks project.

WHITESIDE THEATRE INSTALLS A NEW SEWER

The Whiteside Theatre sewer was replaced in mid-August. "This is a great step forward for the Whiteside Theatre," said Doug Sackinger, who leads the Waterworks project for the Whiteside Theatre Foundation. "We have an outstanding team with Mike Blair, of Infrastructure Solutions Engineering, LLC, managing and engineering the project. This project was complex and required careful orchestration. Contractors K&R Plumbing, Terry Hackenbruck, and Sure-Flow, Inc of Albany did exemplary work and really rose to the challenge of a time sensitive project".

"Waterworks Phases 1 and 2, replacing the sewer and restroom plumbing and fixtures, are critical for the overall success of the rehabilitation project," said Louise-Annette Burgess, Chair, Whiteside Theatre Foundation. "When the balance of funding is in place, the mezzanine restrooms will be repaired and repainted, and fixtures reinstalled," continued Burgess. The failed sewer line was the reason that the Whiteside Theatre was closed in January of 2002.

Thanks Mike Blair!

Mike and ISE had significant experience with the technique of pipe-bursting, which held many advantages for our sewer repair, such as speed, minimal excavation, and low impact to interior structures. Through his outstanding work, the sewer was repaired fully at a moderate cost. (Find Mike at www.iseoregon.com).

STRUCTURAL ANALYSIS COMPLETED

The Whiteside Theatre Foundation recently completed a Structural Engineering Analysis of the 1922 downtown landmark. "We are delighted that the Whiteside's concrete and steel inner structure has been confirmed to be as reliable as we anticipated," said Louise-Annette Burgess, Foundation Chair.

"We found very little deterioration or decay," said John Evans of Pillar Consulting Group, Inc., the local professional team conducting the evaluation. "We found some potential deterioration of mortar around the fire escape, and a concrete column with rebar cut and removed at a column corner." "We understand that the column was cut in the 1920s to accommodate organ pipe installation," said Burgess. "Our next steps include a load-bearing test of the fire escape and column repair," she continued.
